Dear new member of our community,

A very warm welcome to Yale University! We are excited to see you become a part of our community of scholars. The next few weeks and months mark a thrilling period of transition and fresh starts as you settle into life here in New Haven. I urge you to fully utilize the plethora of resources at your disposal during this time— from your peers within your program or department, to fellow first-year students, and the array of centers, offices, and organizations located on campus. As you’ll soon discover, the Yale community is a dynamic blend of professors, administrators, postdocs, students, and staff, all dedicated to fostering an environment where knowledge and learning thrive.

Wondering how to go about the university? We have a Guide to Graduate School at Yale. The representatives of the Graduate Student Assembly (GSA) maintain a guide to graduate school at Yale called “The Compass” (gsa.yale.edu/compass). We made this document to aid you not only in this transition to graduate school life, but also in your ongoing journey as a person living in New Haven. It provides invaluable insights ranging from shuttle routes to local hangouts, and from tax-related resources to addressing financial inquiries, along with guidance on where to turn should you encounter any challenges.

As you embark on your Yale and New Haven adventure, take a moment to acquaint yourself with your surroundings— meet fellow graduate students from different departments and schools, explore Yale’s museums, and take a walk around campus to appreciate the architecture. Keep this website within easy reach, and remember, the GSA is here to assist you, whether you have queries, concerns, or simply wish to familiarize yourself with your department’s representative(s) within our organization.

What is the Graduate Student Assembly? The GSA is a democratically elected body representing graduate students in all departments of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS). We listen to graduate students and advocate at the departmental, graduate school (GSAS), and university-wide levels on various issues including health care, housing, transportation, academic and career resources, and questions of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

If you would like to get involved, every Spring, new GSA departmental representatives are elected. If your department is currently underrepresented, early in the fall semester you will receive an email asking if you would like to nominate yourself and run for departmental representative. Additionally, all graduate students are welcome at the GSA General Assembly Meetings, which happen once every two weeks. Members of the Yale Administration are often invited to speak on topics of interest to graduate students, and dinner is provided. The meeting schedule can be found on the GSA website, gsa.yale.edu. If you are interested in attending a meeting, contact gsa@yale.edu or your departmental representative.

Yale Grad Students (i.e., workers) are now unionized. What does this mean? Last academic year, graduate workers voted to unionize in a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election by a 91% margin. Local 33 is the union of graduate workers at Yale. The next step is for the elected bargaining committee to negotiate our first union contract. Local 33 and Yale’s bargaining committees have a good working relationship and are proceeding steadily, and meeting weekly to discuss different aspects of the contract to build into the tentative agreement. This process will continue until a complete contract agreeable to both parties is finalized. The union welcomes feedback, opinions, and support from its members during this time, so do not hesitate to reach out or get involved! Union membership follows the NLRB voting unit definition, which, in short, means that members include teachers and researchers of the graduate school (GSAS); and teachers of the professional schools. If you want to know what this means for you, contact a union organizer or 33@yaleunions.org.

Starting graduate school in a new and strange environment can be daunting, and we hope that this document can provide you with some helpful information. If you ever have any questions about anything, do not hesitate to reach out to the members of your department or anyone in the GSA! We would all be more than happy to help you.

Warm regards and welcome again to Yale,

Christopher Lindsay,
on behalf of the Yale Graduate Student Assembly, gsa.yale.edu

Life at Yale
New Arrival Checklist

Things to Do in Your First Semester

The following is a list of the top priorities you should aim to accomplish in the first few weeks at Yale.

□ Set up direct deposit for your stipend. Direct deposit is the easiest way to receive your stipend payments. To set up direct deposit, visit Yale Hub (visit: Instructions for Direct Deposit). In Workday, you can select “Payment Elections” to input bank information for direct deposit of your stipend. See page 68 for local banks.

□ Register for dental and/or eye coverage (Optional). Navigating the Yale Health Plan can be complicated at times; dental and eye coverage are not part of the Yale Health Plan. The registration window is fixed and instructions to register for dental and eye coverage will be emailed to you before the start of the Fall Semester.

□ Get your Yale Health Plan card. Make sure you get your Yale Health Plan insurance card as soon as you can, as it is required for care within Yale and outside of Yale Health, see page 36 for further instructions.

□ Figure out your tax situation. Taxes are not automatically deducted from stipend checks. Budgeting is a difficult but important task. In some cases, international students must pay taxes as well, see page 25 and https://oiss.yale.edu/employment-taxes/us-taxes for more information.
□ Enroll your spouse/family in the health plan. Students may enroll their spouse or civil union partner and legally dependent children in one of the Two-Person Plan or the Student Family Plan. To find out more, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu/coverage/student-coverage

□ Register for MyChart. MyChart is an online resource to help you stay connected to Yale Health. You can get in touch with your clinician, schedule appointments, and see test results. See page 36 and mychart.ynhhs.org for more information.

□ Register your car in Connecticut. If you brought a car with you, you should know that Connecticut requires you to register within 60 days and transfer your license within 30 days. Additionally, parking in certain areas requires a permit. (see page 60)

□ Familiarize yourself with the Yale Shuttle. The Yale Shuttle services are a free method of transport available to all Yale students and affiliates. (see your.yale.edu/work-yale/campus-services/yale-transit/shuttle for more information. A live map of the Yale shuttles can be found at yale.downtownerapp.com/routes.

□ Text YALESAFE to 444-999. To receive a contact card for your phone containing important university numbers.

□ Download the apps in the Technology Section From shuttle information to VPN access, there’s an app for that. (see page 4)
Technology @ Yale

Technology is a huge part of life at Yale. From free software to free IT support, you are never on your own here. The following information should get you started on your way to technological comfort on and off campus.

Yale IT: Whenever you are in doubt, the first line of support is the IT at Yale website. There you can find information on reporting a problem and a 24 hour service line (203) 432-9000. For more information, visit: yale.servicenow.com/it

Walk-In Centers: For problems with hardware and software that you just cannot seem to solve on your own or over the phone, Yale provides three walk-in centers for students that are free of all service charges. In the event of a hardware replacement, you will only be asked to pay for parts and shipping. For a map of locations, visit: its.yale.edu/walk-centers

On-Campus access: Access to all Yale services while on campus is available through the Yale Secure wifi network. Use your NetID and Password to connect your phone and computer.

Off-Campus access: For access to Yale services from off campus, it is necessary to login to the VPN provided through the Cisco-Anyconnect Client which can be downloaded by visiting: access.yale.edu/. For more information on how to set up and use the VPN, see the VPN section on page 6.
Apps

• Xfinity Stream and Max
  Available on the computer and on phones. You can log into Xfinity using “Xfinity on campus”, then sign in to Max using Xfinity on campus as your “provider” for the login. Max is available for free with a Yale email.

• VPN Cisco Anyconnect
  Available on the computer and on phones. Securely access restricted services and resources on the Yale University networks when off campus.

• Duo Mobile
  Available on phones. Two Factor Authentication: Required to access internal Yale sites when off campus.

• Transit
  Available on phones. Plan bus routes, track buses in real time, and purchase bus tickets.

• LiveSafe
  Available on phones. Summon help with one click, live chat with safety officials, and temporarily provide your location to friends and family until you safely reach your destination.

• Downtowner
  Available on the computer, visit: yale.downtownerapp.com/routes. Shows live route updates, GPS locations, and arrival estimates for Yale Shuttles. Note that there are no visible bus stop signs at stops. You may need to wave a bus driver down.

- Yale Connect
  Available on phones. Stay connected to organizations on campus wherever you are with the Yale Connect app.

- Snackpass
  Available on phones. Discounts and promotional codes for local restaurants make dining in New Haven more affordable and fun. Some restaurants have group discounts! Fun fact, the app was started by a Yale undergrad!

- See.Click.Fix
  Available on phones. New Haven community engagement app, which enables easy reporting of civic issues, from potholes to downed trees.

- GoNewHaven
  Available on phones. New Haven parking app (pay for street parking).

- Yale Campus Recreation
  Available on phones. Online member portal to view your membership and locker information, check in to the gym, reserve courts, enroll in group fitness programs, receive hours of operation updates, and more.

- Yale Canvas
  Available on computer and on phones. Keep up to date with your classes, submit your assignments, and grade your students’ assignments (on the Canvas for Teachers app.)
VPN

Yale VPN (Virtual Private Network) is a way to securely access Yale’s restricted services and resources on the University or Yale-New Haven Hospital (Y-NHH) network from a non-Yale internet source. VPN is also required for remote access to on-campus workstations - via Remote Desktop Protocol (RDP). While VPN provides excellent network security, it should only be used from an appropriately secured computing device.

To access the VPN:

Connect via the website access.yale.edu with your NetID and password.

OR

1. Download and install the Cisco Anyconnect Client from the Yale Software Library (visit: software.yale.edu, or see page 12)
2. Load the client and enter the address, access.yale.edu
3. When prompted, login with your NetID and password.
4. Select your preferred choice of multifactor authentication.
5. Access any Yale secured site or server as if on campus.

Yale Jargon

Like all communities, Yale has come up with its own short-hand. Before you find yourself lost in a conversation about sharing a Mory’s Cup after The Game, check out this list of popular Yale slang.

Apizza [pronounced a-beetz]: The original, New Haven-style pizza: an extra thin, coal charred crust topped with fresh tomato sauce. Don’t forget to add mozz; cheese is a topping in New Haven! Visit the “Trinity,” Pepe’s, Sally’s, and Modern for the true New Haven Experience.

Mozz [pronounced mūtz]: Mozzarella cheese is not guaranteed on pizza in New Haven, so don’t forget to ask for it.

The Game: The annual Harvard-Yale Football game. The Game takes place every fall on the weekend before Thanksgiving, during the November Recess. Harvard and Yale take turns hosting, and Yalies will travel by the busload to Cambridge to watch (and tailgate) The Game.

Gryphon’s Pub: Yale’s Best and Only Bar for/of/by Graduate and Professional Students. You can pay a small fee up-front ($25/yr) to gain a year’s pass to the Gryphon, or you can elect to pay a cover each time you go.

Mory’s Cup: A very large drink served in a large, silver trophy cup, available at Mory’s on York Street. Cups are ordered by drink color, and are almost always alcoholic.

GSAS - Graduate School of Arts and Sciences: The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. If you are reading this, you are most likely a student enrolled in GSAS. Not to be confused with G&P, which is GSAS. plus the Professional Schools.

GSA - Graduate Student Assembly: The GSA is elected by the graduate student body, and every department in GSAS has at least one representative. The GSA identifies the needs and concerns of graduate students, and then works with the administration to address them. The GSA is also the writer, editor, and publisher of The Compass (the guide you are currently reading)! To learn about how to get involved, see the introductory letter on page i.

DGS - Director of Graduate Studies: The DGS is a vital part of every department, overseeing graduate student curriculum and serving as a resource for any department-related concerns you may have. Your DGS will approve your course schedules, coordinate your teaching assignments, and help make sure your route from matriculation to graduation is as smooth as possible.

Local 33 - Graduate student Union: Local 33 is a campaign organized and led by student workers, currently focused on negotiating for things like higher pay and improved healthcare. Depending on the nature of your program, you may not be covered by the union during your first year as a graduate student. See page 15.

CTF - Conference Travel Fund: Offered by the GSA, the CTF is a resource available for graduate students traveling to a conference for the purpose of presenting original work. Awards vary, with the maximum amount being $800. Don’t forget to apply, see gsa.yale.edu/ctf!

Yale Hub: From accessing any e-bills, to registering for classes, to updating your emergency contact information, most anything you need to do can be done through Yale Hub, yub.yale.edu.

OCS - Office of Career Strategy: For those who are curious about non-academic career options available to someone with an advanced degree from Yale, OCS is a terrific resource. OCS offers walk-in sessions, workshops, and meetings by appointment, and is a balanced alternative to your departmental resources that often tend to focus more on the academic job market. See ocs.yale.edu.

SAS - Student Accessibility Services: SAS determines reasonable accommodations for all students with disabilities, and works collaboratively with Yale faculty, staff, and students to provide accessible and equitable educational access. See sas.yale.edu.

OGSDD - Office for Graduate Student Development and Diversity: The Office for Graduate Student Development and Diversity, formerly known as the Office for Diversity and Equal Opportunity, was established in September 2000. They work collaboratively and proactively with departments and programs to recruit and support the needs of diverse students as they pursue graduate study at Yale. See gsas.yale.edu/diversity/office-graduate-student-development-diversity-ogsdd.

OISS - Office of International Students and Scholars: OISS is the office for any and all international student specific questions. From visa paperwork to programming to meet and interact with other international students, this office is a hub of information. See oiss.yale.edu.

G&P - Graduate and Professional Schools
G&P Student Senate: The GPSS represents students from all the graduate and professional schools at Yale in all. The Senate works on broad issues that affect the entire graduate and professional student community at Yale, in particular focusing on ways to bring students across all schools together both to work and to socialize. They also provide funding for student groups and activities that are G&P inclusive. See gpsenate.yale.edu.

PI - Principal Investigator: Students in the sciences almost always have a PI, or a professor in whose lab they work or to whom they report. The PI is generally that person’s primary advisor.

Community Life

We’ve all come here to learn and study in our chosen fields, but we are also here to engage with the community around us at Yale and in New Haven more broadly. Through student and local organizations, there are ample opportunities to be active in our communities.

Graduate School Organizations

Please note that new student groups are added every year. If you are interested in starting your own group, visit: gsas.yale.edu/resources-students/graduate-student-organizations to find out more about the process. McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life

The McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life provides programming to foster a vibrant graduate student community. In addition to hosting the annual Winter Ball, the McDougal Center hosts events in public service, family life, sports and recreation, health and wellness, for the international community, arts and culture, and various other social events throughout the year. On the first Friday of each month, they host ‘First Friday at Five’. Come with your own mug and receive free food and libations! For more on all that the Graduate Student Center has to offer, check out the McDougal website, found at gsas.yale.edu, and keep an eye out for their weekly email. And don’t forget to follow their Facebook and Yale Connect pages!

Local 33 (Union of Graduate Workers at Yale)

Yale Grad Students (i.e., workers) are now Unionized. Last academic year, graduate workers voted to unionize in a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election by a 91% margin. Local 33 is the union of graduate workers at Yale, visit: local33.org. The next step is for the elected bargaining committee to negotiate our first union contract. Local 33’s Bargaining Committee has been meeting with the university since March and has made significant progress in contract negotiations. They have secured several tentative agreements, including protections and support for international graduate workers; transparency around job appointments, expectations, and scheduling; academic freedom; and more!

What’s next? Local 33 and Yale’s bargaining committees have a good working relationship and are proceeding steadily. Both sides meet weekly to discuss different aspects of the contract to build into the tentative agreement. This process will continue until a complete contract agreeable to both parties is finalized. The union welcomes feedback, opinions, and support from its members during this time, so do not hesitate to reach out or get involved!

If you would like to take a look at the current tentative agreement or learn more about the process, please reach out to your department organizing committee or email 33@yaleunions.org.

Not all graduate students are covered by Local 33. Union membership follows the NLRB voting unit definition found here. In simpler terms, members include teachers and researchers of the graduate school (GSAS); and teachers of the professional schools. If you want to know what this means for you, contact a union organizer or email 33@yaleunions.org.
OISS (Office of International Students and Scholars)

The OISS Regularly organizes events. The website, oiss.yale.edu/campus-community-life has pages with information on ways to find community at Yale and other resources specifically directed towards international students. There are also pages for students with spouses and/or children.

The New Haven Free Public Library

The New Haven Public Library system offers an array of services and community events for free with a library card, including streaming services, magazine digital subscriptions, lectures, movie nights, and tax help. Library cards can be attained with a photo ID and documentation of current New Haven address. For more information and branch locations, visit: nhfpl.org

Academic Advising

Advising and Mentorship

Your relationship with your advisor is one of the most important relationships of your graduate education, and potentially of your career. You should start thinking now about what you want your relationship with your advisor to look like and how you can achieve that. Make sure you have a conversation with your advisor to get a feeling for their style and establish expectations such as how often you will meet and how often you will provide updates. Should you find yourself having an issue with your student-advisor relationship, Yale has the following resources available to provide advice and support.

GSAS Advising And Mentoring Webpage: The graduate school has resources on their website such as published recommendations for best practices regarding the student-advisor relationship, which can be found on the GSA website in the Guide to Advising Processes for Faculty and Students. These guidelines can be a great place to start as you work to develop and maintain a successful relationship with your advisor. They also provide sample mentoring agreements and conversation guides for students.

Department Advising Handbook: Each Department in GSAS should have published online on webpages (or circulating as documents) a Graduate Student Handbook to specify expected Advising practices, key milestones towards achieving your degree, and more.

Director of Graduate Studies: Each department has a DGS that can be a great resource for any department-specific or advising concerns you might be having. A list of DGSs by department can be found at gsas.yale.edu/dgs-registrar-directory

Office of Graduate Student Development and Diversity

gsas.yale.edu/diversity

Both the Associate Dean, Michelle Nearon, and the rest of the Office for Graduate Student Development and Diversity realize the importance of promoting positive student-advisor relationships as a way of supporting and retaining all students in GSAS. If your program is located in a professional school, there are additional resources within your school just for you!

Academic Deans: At the Graduate Student Level, all of the following are trained Deputy Title IX and Discrimination and Harassment Resource Coordinators, but they each have their specialties.

- Suzanne Young: Assistant Dean for Graduate Student Professional Development. “Suzanne will provide individualized coaching to students on navigating careers within and beyond the academy, as well as programming to build graduate students’ professional skills.”

- Ksenia Sidorenko: Our Assistant Dean of Diversity, recently joined from UC Berkeley as a grievance specialist in the Graduate Division. “Ksenia will support the OGSDD’s mission to recruit and retain a diverse graduate student body”

- Michelle Nearon: Sr. Associate Dean for Graduate Student Development and Diversity. “she works closely with students, members of the faculty and administration, and the McDougal Center Offices, to proactively recruit, retain, and assist in the professional development of graduate students from diverse racial, ethnic, religious, socioeconomic, political, cultural, and lifestyle backgrounds.”

- Matthew Tanico: Assistant Dean for Graduate Academic Support and Outreach, “[oversees] student progress and academic support, including leaves of absence, parental relief, student registration, personal conduct, and academic integrity standards, and academic advising and mentoring”

- Allegra di Bonaventura: Associate Dean for Academic Support, ”responsible for advising students on academic issues, professional development, and navigating disciplinary and grievance cases. In addition to managing external fellowships, she will provide emergency support to students in need, including administration of the Dean’s Emergency Fund”

Activities with a Faculty Mentor

After identifying potential faculty advisors, consider participating in one of the following programs, designed to give grad students opportunities to spend time with and learn from faculty mentors.

Meals for Mentoring

Visit: this link! For a full meal with a faculty mentor, the GSAS will provide meal tickets for use at several campus dining locations, including the residential dining halls. Students can request this service twice per term.

FEAST
Visit: this link! As a Teaching Fellow, you and your course supervisor can meet over lunch to discuss teaching issues through the FEAST program. Once a month, enjoy a meal at the Bulldog Cafe, the KBT Cafe, Café Med, or Kosher Kitchen at the Slifka Center.

Additional Mentorship Opportunities

Remember that not all of your mentoring in grad school needs to come from your advisor! All students have diverse mentorship needs. Those needs can be met by faculty both within and outside your department, by GSAS administrators, by postdocs, or even by fellow graduate students. Think about what mentorship needs you may have for your studies, career, and personal growth, and seek out the right people to support your growth at Yale. The following programs provide graduate students with alternative sources of mentorship.

4-Tiered Mentoring Program: This program, run by the OGSDD (Office for Graduate Student Development and Diversity), allows graduate students to receive mentorship from other graduate students, postdocs, or faculty members. Additionally, grad students can become a mentor for undergrads or fellow grad students.

Women in Science at Yale (WISAY) Mentoring Program

wisay.sites.yale.edu

WISAY matches women in science and engineering with women at more advanced stages of their career to receive advising, mentorship, and support. Grad students can choose to mentor an undergrad, receive mentorship from a postdoc, or both.
Academic and Administrative Life

We get it: you have more than enough on your plate without having to figure out the ins-and-outs of a whole new institution. To ease your transition, we’ve summarized all the “admin” stuff you might need along the way on the next few pages.

Poorvu Center For Teaching and Learning

poorvucenter.yale.edu/

The CTL, or the Center for Teaching and Learning, is the result of trying to create a more unified Yale. The new center consolidated the various teaching, tutoring, writing and technology-enabled learning programs distributed across the University. Most relevant for graduate students, the Yale Teaching Center and the Graduate Writing Lab are now housed under the CTL.

Office of Career Strategies

ocs.yale.edu/

Should you decide to explore career options outside of academia, the Office of Career Strategies is a great place to start. OCS offers drop-in hours, or you can schedule an appointment with a career counselor on their website.

Teaching Fellow Program

gsas.yale.edu/academic-requirements/teaching-fellows-requirements

Most graduate students will have contact with the Teaching Fellow program during their time at Yale. You can now search vacant TF positions and apply for them on the Graduate Student Teaching Opportunities website, a useful tool for those searching for a TF assignment during non-priority years.
Financial and Funding Opportunities

GSA Conference Travel Fellowship

gsa.yale.edu/ctf

Attending conferences is an expensive but necessary part of your graduate experience. The Conference Travel Fellowship can help offset that cost and provide funding for travel expenses to important conferences. This fellowship does not cover presentations on international topics in the humanities and social sciences (see the link above for more details).

MacMillan Conference Travel Fund

gsas.yale.edu/resources-students/finances-fellowships/conference-travel-funding

The MacMillan Center provides conference travel grants for GSAS students in the humanities and the social sciences. The conference, workshop, or meeting can be in the United States or abroad, but the student must be on the program as a presenter, session chair, or discussant speaking on an international topic.

Dean’s Fund for Student-Organized Symposia

Visit: gsas.yale.edu/resources-students/finances-fellowships/deans-colloquia-symposia-funds

If you are planning a symposium for your field here at Yale, the Dean’s Fund can provide a grant of up to $1000. Applications must be received six months in advance.

Dean’s Fund for Research Workshops, Seminars, and Colloquia
When planning a seminar series or research workshop, consider applying for a grant through the Dean’s Fund. As long as there will be more than four meetings a term, your series may be eligible for up to $500 a semester.

Student Grants and Fellowships

studentgrants.yale.edu

Additional funding opportunities can be found on the Student Grants and Fellowships website. Besides the database of grants, the website also has guidance for writing your applications and links to other grant resources.

Tax Information

tax.yale.edu

Taxes are confusing in grad school, especially as funding sources vary widely between students. Most stipends are considered taxable as that income is used for non-academic purposes such as room and board. For further information, you can go to the Grad and Professional Student Guide on the Yale Tax Office Website or see Topic 421 (Scholarships, Fellowship Grants, and Other Grants) on the IRS website.

Tax Facts

The GSA holds a session with a local accountant to help go through the tax filing process. Details announced in spring.

International Student Tax information

The Office of International Students and Scholars website is the best resource for international students on tax information. With their online guides, filing your taxes will become more straightforward.
The Office of International Students and Scholars website is the best resource for international students on tax information. With their online guides, filing your taxes will become more straightforward. Visit: oiss.yale.edu/employment-taxes/us-taxes

gsas.yale.edu/funding-aid/deans-emergency-fund

The Dean’s Emergency fund is for GSAS students who face a one-time, unexpected financial hardship as well as regarding housing related legal issues. Up to $2000 can be requested from the fund, and it does not need to be repaid. Additionally, up to $3000 can be requested as hardship awards regarding medical leave.
Diversity and Inclusion Resources

Yale has resources available to anyone affected by any form of harassment or discrimination, as well as their friends, families, and loved ones. It does not matter what form of misconduct occurred, nor when it happened; you have choices about what to do and how.

SHARE

sharecenter.yale.edu/

(Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Education Center) SHARE is a 24/7 resource available to the community, for anyone “dealing with sexual misconduct of any kind, including sexual assault, sexual harrassment, stalking, intimate partner violence, and more” located on the ground floor of 55 Lock St. Appointments are available in-person, on Zoom, or over the phone from 9-5 (M-F) during the semester (and from 9-3, M-F, during breaks). Additionally, the on-call service (203-432-2000) is available 24/7 for time-sensitive matters. All interactions are confidential and can be anonymous, and a formal complaint is not automatically filed if you contact SHARE.

SHARE counselors are trained professionals who assist students who are dealing with acute and recent experiences, as well as experiences from the past.

University-Wide Committee

uwc.yale.edu

Phone Number: 203-432-4449

The University-Wide Committee on Sexual Misconduct is the internal disciplinary board designed to address allegations of sexual misconduct. It is available to students, faculty and staff across the university. The committee consists of approximately forty students, faculty, and administrative members drawn from throughout the University.

Reporting Harassment, Discrimination, and Misconduct

Yale is committed to creating an inclusive environment in which all students can feel respected, safe, and able to learn. To this end, there are a variety of resources available to provide support and guidance if you feel that you or others have experienced harassment or discrimination. You can use this website to help direct you to Yale’s resources.

Dean’s Designees

The Deans Designees are selected by the Dean of each school and are equipped to receive student concerns or complaints about issues of discrimination, harassment, diversity and inclusion, and equal opportunities. Dean’s designees can offer support as well as advice about additional resources and reporting options that are available. For more information see, dhr.yale.edu/discrimination-and-harassment-resource-coordinators.

Deans’ Designees for the Graduate School:

- Michelle Nearon- Senior Associate Dean for Graduate Student Development and Diversity (michelle.nearon@yale.edu, 203-436-1301)
- Ksenia Sidorenko- Assistant Dean for Diversity (ksenia.sidorenko@yale.edu)
- Matthew Tanico- Assistant Dean of Graduate Student Life (matthew.tanico@yale.edu)
• Suzanne Young- Assistant Dean for Graduate Student Professional Development (suzanne.young@yale.edu)

Title IX Coordinators

You can contact the University Title IX Coordinator, Stephanie Spangler at 203-432-4446 (during working hours) or email at titleix@yale.edu

Title IX coordinators are employees to whom students, faculty, and staff may go when they have questions or would like to make a report concerning issues of sexual misconduct and gender-based discrimination. The Deans’ Designees also serve as Title IX Coordinator.

Office of Institutional Equity and Accessibility

oiea.yale.edu

The Office of Institutional Equity and Accessibility ensures Yale’s compliance with policies and laws that relate to equal opportunities for students, faculty, and staff on campus. Any student with concerns related to affirmative action, equal opportunity, sexual harassment, racial harassment, or fairness in admissions or employment at Yale is encouraged to contact the Office for Equal Opportunity Programs.

LiveSafe App

Through the LiveSafe app, anonymous messages can be sent to the SHARE center or the Yale police. Additionally, confidential (but not anonymous) messages may be sent to the Office of Institutional Equity and Accessibility
Resources for International Students

If you are an international student, you are in good company more than 40% of GSAS students are international. The Yale community includes students coming from about 120 different countries (more stats).

OISS

oiss.yale.edu

The Office of International Students and Scholars (OISS) is the main reference point at Yale for anything related to visa, immigration issues, taxes, etc. You can reach out to the office via email, zoom appointments, virtual drop-in hours, and walk-in advising hours. Also, based on their department and/or affiliation, every international student is automatically assigned to a dedicated adviser you can find out who they are and how to contact them through oiss.yale.edu/about/connect-with-oiss.

The OISS sends out a weekly newsletter with important immigration updates, information on campus life, and reminders. If you don’t receive the newsletter, please subscribe by following the instructions on this page.

The OISS also hosts community-building events and information sessions for students, scholars, and families. Keep an eye out!

IMPORTANT TIPS: 1) Remember that “All international students and scholars have a federal tax filing requirement even if you do not have U.S. source income.” For tax-related issues, alongside OISS, Yale’s International Tax Office is there to help you. “The International Tax office provides guidance and responds to questions concerning federal tax withholding and reporting of payments made to individuals who are neither U.S. citizens nor U.S. permanent residents.” (see the link under “International Student Tax Information” on page 25)

25 Science Park, 150 Munson Street,

6th Floor New Haven, CT 06511

Email: internationaltax@yale.edu

Phone: (203) 432-5530 Fax: (203) 432-5577

TIP 2) Employment opportunities for international students are strictly regulated according to the type of visa they have. To know more, check out oiss.yale.edu/employment-taxes/employment-for-international-students.
Health and Wellness

Health

When you are sick, the last thing you want to do is waste your time figuring out exactly how the Yale Health System works. Familiarizing yourself now will save you trouble later!

Yale Health (55 Lock Street) is the primary location for health care services for Yale Health members. You may be referred to affiliated providers or services through Yale New Haven Health System (YNHH, multiple locations). Coverage is dependent on multiple factors and can be discussed with your provider.

Yale Student Health

The Yale Student Health department is the best place to start if you are feeling unwell. Same-day appointments are often available, and most specialists on the Yale Health plan require a referral, which is most easily acquired by visiting Student Health. Call at 203-432-0312.

Yale Acute Care

If you fall ill suddenly and cannot make an appointment through Student Health, call Yale Acute Care. Acute Care is available for walk-in appointments 8am-10pm and there is nurse telephone triage anytime available at 203-432-0123. If your illness is urgent, it is safest to call 911.
Mental Health and Counseling

Yale Mental Health and Counseling provides a full range of mental health services to Yale Students. The Mental Health and Counseling Department has offices at 55 Lock Street, 205 Whitney Avenue, and 60 Temple Street. To start the process of getting a therapist, call 203-432-0290. The average wait time is less than 1 week for an intake appointment. A clinician is available 24/7 by phone: 203-432-0290.

Chaplain’s Office

The Chaplain’s Office is open to students who prefer a faith-based counseling option. Visit chaplain.yale.edu or call 203-432-1128

GSAS Embedded Mental Health

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences has a dedicated mental health clinician located in the McDougal Graduate Student Center. Dr. Eva Wilson is a licensed counseling psychologist who provides confidential same-week drop-in appointments and groups exclusively for GSAS students. Appointments can be scheduled online using the QR code below or by going to this link:

Yale Health Member ID Card

Your Yale Health member ID card won’t be sent to you automatically. To get yours, visit yalehealth.yale.edu/coverage/student-coverage, click “Download your Yale Health Member ID Card” linked in the yellow Resources banner, and login with your netID and password. You will need this for all Yale Health appointments as well as emergency care outside of the YNHH system.

MyChart

MyChart is an essential way to be in touch with your clinicians, get test results online, and schedule appointments, but you have to sign up first. To register, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu/appointments/using-mychart. You can also download the MyChart app for mobile access.

Pharmacy

The Yale Health Pharmacy is the only pharmacy that will accept the Yale Health Plan. Prescriptions can either be dropped off in-person or called-in and picked up at a later date. You may also either wait for your prescription or come to pick it up at your convenience. More information about the Pharmacy and hours of operation can be found online at yalehealth.yale.edu/directory/departments/pharmacy-prescriptions. Call at 203-432-0033.
Yale Health Coverage

Yale Health Center (yalehealth.yale.edu, Instagram: @yalehealthcenter) is located at 55 Lock Street. Yale Health Basic Coverage entitles all students to most services provided by the Yale Health Center, including physical exams, gynecological exams, pap smears, flu shots, and laboratory services. Yale Health Hospitalization/Speciality Care is additional coverage and may be covered by your program depending on your enrollment (refer to your program handbook or contact your DGS for further clarification). Per the Yale Health website:

“All eligible enrolled students attending Yale at least half time and working towards a Yale degree, receive many Yale Health services, including primary care. Students do not have to sign up or pay extra to obtain this coverage, Yale Health’s Basic Student Health Services. Your status as an eligible Yale University undergraduate, graduate, or professional student automatically makes you eligible for and enrolls you in Yale Health Basic Student Health Services. If you are eligible for Yale Health Basic Health Services, the university requires you to obtain additional coverage for hospitalization and specialty care; unless you waive Hospitalization/Specialty Care coverage you are automatically enrolled in and billed for that coverage as well.”

Yale Health Basic Coverage

- Student Health
- Athletic Medicine (for varsity athletes)
- Gynecology
- Acute Care
• Mental Health and Counseling
• Blood Draw
• Inpatient Care
• Nutrition

Yale Health Hospitalization Specialty Care Coverage
• Allergy
• Dermatology
• Diagnostic Imaging
• Ear, Nose and Throat
• Emergency Services
• Infectious Diseases
• Endocrinology
• Gastroenterology
• Hospital Services
• Neurology
• Obstetrics
• Oncology
• Ophthalmology
• Orthopedics
• Physical Therapy
• Urology

Note: Unless you waive your coverage, you are automatically enrolled in Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage. This means that almost all specialty care, such as dermatology, neurology, obstetrics, ophthalmology, and hospital services are covered. Prescription medications are covered through the Yale Pharmacy in a three-tiered copay system, with copays ranging from 10–45 for a 30-day supply. Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage also includes free preventative immunizations provided by the Yale Health Center, as well as various options for free contraceptives via the Yale Health Pharmacy. There is a $200 fee associated with admission to the hospital.
Yale requires all half-time or greater students to have hospitalization and specialty care coverage (all students are automatically covered by Yale Health Basic). If you do not want to subscribe to Yale’s Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage, you may purchase other coverage on your own, or have coverage by being a dependent on someone else’s plan. Information about family coverage under Yale health can be found under Family Life on page 40 and on the Yale Health website. If you use outside coverage, you will not be able to fill prescriptions at the Yale Pharmacy. For students who live or travel within the United States but outside of the Yale service area, the Travel Rider is offered as a supplement to Yale Health Hospitalization/ Specialty Care and provides coverage for non-emergent illness and chronic care only. For more information, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu

Eye Care and Dental Coverage

Eye and Dental care are separate and not a part of Yale Health Coverage. For more information about coverage, visit: gradprofdenteye.yale.edu/

Family Life

Health Care: As long as you are enrolled half-time or more at Yale, you may purchase coverage for your spouse or civil union partner through Yale at half-cost. If you have children, your entire family plan cost will be covered. Detailed information on student coverage and rates for 2023-2024 can be found at yalehealth.yale.edu/student-rates-2023-2024.

Parental Relief Student parents enrolled in a Yale PhD program are entitled to 8-16 weeks of academic relief and paid support for birth or adoption. Visit gsas.yale.edu/office-directory to find the appropriate dean to contact.

Yale Student Affiliate ID Card Legally married spouses and civil union partners of Yale students may get Yale Student Affiliate ID Cards, which grant discounts at the Yale Rep, free admission to the Peabody Museum, library privileges, and access (for a fee) to Yale athletic facilities and fitness classes. To get a Yale Student Affiliate ID Card, you and your spouse or partner must appear together, with the student’s Yale ID, government ID, and a copy of your marriage license or civil union, at the University Registrar. Domestic partners are not entitled to an Affiliate ID card.

Family Programming at the McDougal Center The McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life offers a variety of programming for those with families. Family Life Fellows organize events each month for families, and publish an email listing kid-friendly activities.

Spousal Classes/Employment Spouses and civil union partners of Yale students are entitled to audit or sit in on courses in both Yale College and the Graduate School for no fee. Additionally, Yale Human Resources offers a variety of options for Yale spouses and partners. In addition to STARS (Yale University’s Online Hiring and Recruitment System), McDougal Graduate Student Life and Yale HR co-host informational sessions on finding employment for spouses and partners of new graduate students.

Yale Babysitting Service The Yale Babysitting Service is an online forum where Yale-affiliated parents (students, faculty, post-docs, and staff) can post childcare jobs (regular and sporadic) that Yale students who register for the site can respond to. To sign up, visit: babysitting.ys.yale.edu

Mental Health at Yale

How to Access Mental Health and Counseling (Magellan)

Magellan covers individual therapy up to once per week over the course of the academic year (until 31 Jul). Note that going through the full process can take a while (up to two weeks to get a consultation with Yale MHC).

In order to find a therapist through Magellan follow the steps below.

1. Call Yale MHC (Mental Health and Counseling) at 203-432-0290 to set up an initial evaluation consultation.

2. If referred to Magellan for individual therapy, you will receive a message via MyChart with further instructions.

3. After allowing five business days for Magellan to update their system, you can call at 800-327-9228 and either request a "first available appointment search," or ask for a list of therapists who match your needs. (In the case of the former, Magellan will determine what type of therapist you need and search for a therapist with an opening, in the case of the latter you will be responsible for getting in touch with therapists on the list provided to you. Additionally, if you search for a therapist yourself, you will need to call Magellan back to inform them of your choice of therapist once you’ve found one.)

4. You will receive the billing authorization code, which you must bring to your first therapy appointment.

You can transfer back to the waitlist at MHC at any point in time. Your wait-time for MHC is determined by your evaluation date; you will not lose your spot by pursuing Magellan but you do need to contact them if you decide to change paths.

Additionally, note you will need to re-enroll each year (around July/August) to continue using Magellan.

Other Resources

Crisis Resources:

For urgent situations call Mental Health and Counseling at 203-432-0920 (business days, 8am-5pm). During non-business hours, call Acute Care at 203-432-0123 and ask for the mental health clinician on call.

Safety and Transportation

Campus Safety

Your safety and security are no laughing matter at Yale. It is the university’s top priority that every student feels safe and secure during his or her time at Yale, and these are some of the services and offices that help achieve that.

In case of Emergency, Call 911. Otherwise, you can also call Yale police at (203) 432-4400.

Blue Phones

Call boxes marked with blue lights are located all across campus. Use the red emergency buttons for direct connection to the University Police for police, fire, or medical emergencies.

You can also press “CALL” followed by “2WALK” (2-9255) to call yourself a safe ride or security escort after 6pm.

The Yale Shuttle System

The aim of the free Yale Shuttle system is to provide a safe and reliable mode of transportation for all Yale Students, Staff and Faculty. The service combines Fixed-Route, Door-to-Door and Fixed-Time Shuttles. For detailed and up-to-the-minute information, visit: your.yale.edu/work-yale/campus-services/yale-transit/shuttle or see the shuttle map at yale.downtownerapp.com/routes.

Fixed Route Shuttles

Fixed lines shuttles run early morning to late night every weekday (specific times listed on the following pages). They have a number of fixed stops. At night, on weekends, and during adverse weather conditions the routes and times of operation may change. To get on a shuttle, just wait at a stop and signal the driver as the shuttle approaches. To get off, pull the yellow cord a few moments before your stop. To get on, use the Downtowner app to find the stop locations, note that there may be discrepancies.

To view shuttle stop locations, the shuttle lines and current position (combination of GPS + travel prediction data) of the shuttles, use the Downtowner web app: yale.downtownerapp.com/routes.
Weekday

The Blue Line (7am-6pm) connects Whitney (downhill) areas with York and College streets downtown all the way to the Medical School. Service is expanded to Prospect (uphill) at night (6pm to 1am).

The Orange Line (7am to 6pm) runs on a similar path as the Blue Line but runs through East Rock, traveling down Foster and Orange Street instead of Whitney Ave. There is expanded service within this range at night (6:15pm to 1am)

The Red Line (7am to 6pm) runs on Winchester Ave, Prospect (downhill), and serves the Chapel St., Wooster Square areas. It also travels to and from Union Station and the Medical School.

The Green line (5:20am to 6:40pm) and Purple line (5:30am to 11:45pm) will bring you to and from West Campus and the Science Hill and Medical School campuses, respectively.

The Brown Line (6am to 7pm) will bring you between Science Hill and the Science Park Garage.

The Pink Line (6am to 6:30pm) runs between the Medical School and the West Haven VA.

The Yellow Line (6am to 7pm) will bring you to the New Haven train stations (Union Station & State Street Station) and central campus.
Nighttime

After 6pm, you can tell your fixed-line shuttle driver the exact location where you would like to be dropped off. You will be driven to your doorstep, even if it is not on the route. For example, after 6pm, you can ask your Blue Line driver to drop you at Mansfield Street and they will go up Mansfield for you before they return to Prospect Street. This is why after 6pm some shuttles seem to take a strange path on the Downtowner web app (see apps on page 4).

Weekend

The Weekend Blue Line (7am to 6:20pm) follows a similar route to the weekday blue line with fewer stops.

The Weekend Grocery Line (7am to 5pm) runs between the Science Hill area and Trader Joes in Orange, CT.

The Green Line and Purple Line operate the same as during the week.

Trader Joe’s Shuttle

The Trader Joe’s Shuttle drives students to the Trader Joe’s in Orange, CT and back beginning in the Science Hill Parking lot at 180 Whitney Avenue, past College and Wall streets, and returning to Science Hill.
Fixed-Time Shuttle

The Wall Street Shuttle aka Law School Shuttle (6pm to 12:45am) is (despite the name), open to all students. This bus leaves from the Law School (127 Wall Street) on the hour and at half past the hour. The shuttle will drive you to any location within the zone’, first north of Wall Street, then south. At 15 and 45 minutes past, shuttles will leave to take you to any location within the zone’ south of Wall Street first, then north. Just tell the driver your destination as you enter the shuttle.

The Medical School Shuttle aka 333 Cedar Shuttle (6pm to 1am) is also open to all students. They run on the hour and at half past, from 333 Cedar Street. They will take you to any location in the Wooster Square and Dwight/Howe neighborhoods.

Bike Communities in New Haven

Yale Cycling Team visit: yalecycling.org Grad students at Yale can race in collegiate races, and are encouraged to come out and ride! Saturday rides leave from the intersection of Orange and Cold Spring streets each Saturday morning around 9:10 am.

New Haven Bicycling Club visit: newhavenbicyclingclub.org Bike club ranging from commuters to racers and puts on frequent rides and events in the community.

New Haven Bike Party visit: newhavenbikeparty.wordpress.com These themed & costumed rides are held the 2nd Friday of every month, to celebrate the New Haven biking community. This is a great opportunity to meet other bikers and explore New Haven! Find the New Haven Bike Party on Facebook or Bradley Street Bike Co-op visit: bsbc.co You can work on your bike there if you buy a cheap membership; volunteers get a free membership; they additionally sell bikes, parts, make coffee, and are a great part of the cycling community in New Haven.

Bike Safety Tips

Like everywhere, there are good streets to cycle on and busier streets. Plan your route before you cycle! Check out the New Haven Bike Map to plan your route. See this document for more information.

Take a one-hour bike safety course through Yale Environmental Health & Safety. The course includes helpful bicycling tips, bicycle maintenance info, and the proper use and sizing of helmets. Participants will receive a coupon for a free helmet upon completion of the course. Sign up at: This Link

For great bike-safety tips, visit the smart streets resource to learn how to co-exist on the road with drivers and pedestrians! (visit: smartstreets.yale.edu)

Know the laws for bicyclists. Here are a few that are good to know:

- Biking is not allowed on sidewalks.
- Bikes must be equipped with lights and reflectors for riding at night.
- Do not ride more than two-across and communicate your directions with hand signals.

Always lock your bike to a non-moving fixture. We recommend U-locks and wheel-locking mechanisms to prevent theft. Visit your.yale.edu/work-yale/campus-services/getting-around-yale/bike/yale-bike-map for a map of bike racks within the Yale campus.
Travel Out of New Haven

There are lots of places across the Northeast that are worth exploring while you’re living in New Haven! If you don’t own a car, here are some ways to make that happen.

By Car

Zipcar visit: zipcar.com/yale There is a discount for Yale Students!

Other Rental Cars These come in handy if you need to travel somewhere one-way or for longer distances. To use the Yale discount, visit: your.yale.edu/work-yale/campus-services/yale-travel-management). Make sure to use the correct code for leisure or business travel, as appropriate.

By Bus

CT Transit (visit: cttransit.com) CT Transit is a great alternative to a car. Useful locations might include Boston Post Road for shopping.

Peter Pan Bus Lines (visit: peterpanbus.com) For New England stops

BoltBus (visit: boltbus.com) Combine with an MTA train ticket to get to Philadelphia and Washington, DC.

Megabus (visit us.megabus.com) New Haven to Boston via Hartford
By Train

MTA Metro-North Railroad (visit: mta.info/schedules) The Metro North connects New Haven, not just to New York City, but also to other great places along the CT shoreline. Try curling in Bridgeport, sailing in Greenwich or the Stamford Escape Room. You can buy a ticket at the machine at Union Station, on your phone using the MTA eTix app, or on the train (with a surcharge). Peak Times are on weekdays for trains arriving in New York between 5am and 10am and leaving New York between 5.30am and 9am or 4pm and 8pm. During these times, tickets will be slightly higher prices.

Amtrak (visit: amtrak.com) New Haven is in a prime location for using Amtrak, on the line connecting Boston, New York, Newark (Airport), Washington DC and Newport News, VA, as well as a line running from New Haven, through Hartford to Springfield, MA. Book early for discounted rates!

CTRail (visit: hartfordline.com) New in Spring 2018, the Hartford Line runs additional trains to/from New Haven through Hartford and to/from Springfield, MA on weekdays and weekends. ($8 to Hartford, $12.75 to Springfield). Tickets can be purchased at ticket machines at any of the stops on the Hartford Line, or onboard for an additional surcharge.

By Plane

Nearby Airports Include:

- Bradley International Airport (BDL) Windsor Locks, CT (Hartford Area)
- Tweed New Haven Airport (HVN) Only services Avelo Airlines.
LaGuardia Airport (LGA) Queens, NY
John F. Kennedy International Airport (JFK) Queens, NY
Newark Liberty International Airport (ERW) Newark, NJ
Westchester County (HPN) White Plains, NY
T.F. Green (PVD) Warwick, RI

Getting to the Airport

GO Airport Shuttle (visit: the go-airport shuttle website) The shuttle can take you to and from JFK, LaGuardia, Newark, and White Plains-Westchester. The fare is about $70 one-way with the student discount.

Public Transport to Bradley Airport (BDL) CTRail Hartford Line to Hartford (45 minutes, $8), and then the Bradley Flyer from Union Station in Hartford to your terminal at BDL (30 minutes, $1.75). (visit: cttransit.com/services/bradley-flyer)

Tweed New Haven Airport You can park at Tweed for about $25 a day or park at the Temple Street Garage for $15 a day and take a free shuttle to the airport. For more information visit parkhvn.com.

A Cheap Way to JFK Take the Metro North Train to Grand Central Station ($17.75, off-peak price). Outside Grand Central, buy tickets from NYC Airport agents who run shuttle buses to JFK ($18) nycairporter.com). Shuttles run every 30-45 minutes and take you directly to your terminal. Alternatively, you can buy a combined Metro North /Long Island Railroad ticket that will take you to Grand Central then transfer to the Long Island
Rail Road to Jamaica. At Jamaica station, you will transfer to the AirTrain to JFK. For more information, visit new.mta.info/guides/airports/jfk

A Cheap Way to LGA Take the Metro North Train to Harlem/125th Street, and then board the M60 bus south-bound direct to all terminals at LGA ($2.75). You can use a card that taps or buy a Metro card from an MTA station M60 stop or at the airport. For more information, visit new.mta.info/guides/airports/laguardia.

Direct travel to Newark Use the Amtrak Northeast Regional line. The Newark train station is attached to the airport terminal! For a cheaper option, take the Metro North to Grand Central, then the subway to Penn Station, then take New Jersey Transit to Newark Airport (look out for the airplane logo), and finally take the AirTrain to the airport. For more information, visit new.mta.info/guides/airports/newark-ewr.
Having a Car in New Haven

Graduate students with cars should remember:

- Connecticut gives you 60 days to register your car in the state. For more information, visit: dmv.org/ct-connecticut/car-registration.php

- If you do not own a US license, you may, depending on your residency status and length of your stay, need to convert your license to a CT license or pass the driving test again.

- Parking on campus often requires an application and permit, and can be very expensive. For information on where to park and how to apply for a permit (visit: to.yale.edu/drive/student-parking)

- ProTip #1 Off-street parking is free in many streets in northern East Rock. Park your car there and take the shuttle to campus, but be sure to check for street sweeping (Next Tip)! Also be careful to avoid zoned parking which requires a permit.

- ProTip #2 During inclement weather, New Haven may enforce parking bans on all snow emergency routes. Keep an eye out for the flashing blue lights that indicate a ban is in effect, or call: 203-946-SNOW (7669). See the city of New Haven streets website for more info! Grocery Stores

Grocery Delivery:

If you don’t have access to a car, getting groceries in New Haven can be challenging. Some people without cars take the weekend grocery shuttle to Trader Joe’s (see section on Yale Shuttle System), but many others use grocery deliveries from one of several grocery stores in the area. Stop and Shop and Aldi both offer grocery delivery through their websites, while Instacart delivers from many of the shops listed above. These services come with fees that depend on the amount of groceries you order and how often you order them.

Dining

Restaurants and Bars

Twice a year, New Haven holds “Restaurant Week” during which local restaurants offer three-course prix-fixe menus. For more information, visit this link!

Below are some recommendations for New Haven Restaurants and Bars, written by some of our Graduate Student Assembly Members!

Taste of China
954 Chapel St (downtown)
“If you come from China or you want to try some Chinese food, as Chinese, I will definitely recommend Taste of China. It is near the New Haven Greens and you can try different great Chinese Dishes. My personal recommended dishes are Kong Pao Chicken and Pork with Garlic Sauce.” (Huangrui Chu)

Mecha-Uma Food Cart
corner of Prospect and Sachem (campus)
“There a few food carts that come every weekday to the corner of Prospect and Sachem streets. Together, they serve lunch to hundreds of hungry Yale people every day, but my favorite is the Japanese Cart, also known as the Mecha-Uma Food Cart. I go every day and order one of the many different options available; from chicken katsu with beef curry, to sushi, to grilled salmon. Tell the owner, Sean, that Chris sent you!” (Chris Lindsay)

Ramen Kuro Shiro
128 Crown St (downtown)
“They have great hot and cold ramen!” (Katie Chang)

Great Wall
67 Whitney Ave (campus)
“Chinese food restaurant, right next to other similar places. Small place with reasonable price ($11 per dish), free water, popular among locals.” (Samuel Yu)
September in Bangkok

754 State St (East Rock)

“I would recommend the crab fried rice. I know food with blue color usually is disgusting but this one is really delicious!” (Huangrui Chu)

Zeneli Pizzeria e cucina Napoletana

138 Wooster St (Wooster Square)

“A great spot for authentic Neapolitan pizza in New Haven. In addition to pizza, enjoy other Italian favorites in a laid-back dining ambience. The Margherita verace won’t disappoint. Seatings are conducted on first come, first serve basis.” (Nicholas Berrettini)

Shell and Bones

100 S Water St (Hill)

“Fine dining with a very charming view on the Sound.” (Nicola Angeli)

Food at the Medical Campus

Three locations of cheap food for those of you who will be spending time on Yale’s York Street Campus.

- The hospital main cafeteria is on the east pavilion near the main entrance. Subsidized.

- The New Haven Pavilion Cafeteria and Café is on the second floor, above the Primary Care Center and Women’s Center.

- The foodcarts on Cedar St.

You can consult the map here for more help finding these locations.
