Shuttle Map                                                           Inside Front Cover

New Haven Map                                                         Inside Back Cover
Dear fellow graduate student,

Welcome to Yale! We’re glad to have you joining our community of scholars. The next few weeks and months will be an exciting time of transition and new beginnings as you work on getting settled here in New Haven. I encourage you to make the most of the many resources available to you at this time- from your colleagues in your program or department to your fellow incoming first year students to the various centers, offices, and organizations on campus. As you will learn, the Yale community is an exciting group made up of professors, administrators, postdocs, students, and staff committed to creating a space where knowledge and learning flourish. Additionally, New Haven and the surrounding area is a vibrant place to live, with many excellent places to eat, things to do, and people to meet.

The book you are holding, The Compass, is a resource guide to life at Yale and New Haven that was written by graduate students of the Graduate Student Assembly (GSA) to help you navigate this transition (and beyond!). It contains helpful information on everything from shuttle routes to local bars to where to find resources for taxes and other financial questions to where you should go if an issue comes up.

As you begin your journey here at Yale and in New Haven, take some time to explore the environment around you- check out a book for fun at Sterling library, visit the Art Gallery, and meet graduate students from outside your department. Keep The Compass handy- it can be a great resource for many of your adventures here at Yale. And please reach out to the GSA if you have any questions, concerns, or just want to get to know your department’s representative(s) in our organization!

Sincerely,
Lucy Armentano
GSA Chair
The GSA

What is the Graduate Student Assembly?

The Graduate Student Assembly is an elected body of Yale students in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. The Assembly’s goals are to identify the needs and concerns of graduate students, consider possible solutions, and present these to the Dean and other administrators. We also discuss, propose, and advise on possible changes to Graduate School policy proposed by the administration. The assembly provides a means for communication and deliberation both among graduate students and between graduate students and other members of the Yale community.

How can you get involved?

Every graduate program sends one representative to the GSA for every forty enrolled students, with a minimum of one representative per program. If your program is currently underrepresented, nominate yourself during elections in the middle of September.

All graduate students are welcome at the biweekly General Assembly Meetings. Members of the Yale Administration are often invited to speak on topics of interest to graduate students, and dinner is provided. The meeting schedule can be found on the GSA website, gsa.yale.edu. If you are interested in attending a meeting, contact gsa@yale.edu.
New Arrival Checklist

Things to Do in Your First Semester

The following is a list of the top priorities you should aim to accomplish in the first few weeks at Yale.

☐ Set up direct deposit for your stipend
   Direct deposit is the easiest way to receive your stipend payments. (see page 93 for direct deposit and page 34 for local banks)

☐ Register for dental and/or eye coverage
   Navigating the Yale Health Plan can be complicated at times; dental and eye coverage are not part of the Yale Health Plan. The registration window is from August 15 - September 15! (see page 56)

☐ Get your Yale Health Plan card
   Make sure you get your Yale Health Plan insurance card as soon as you can as it is required for care within Yale and outside of Yale Health. (see page 52)

   Taxes are not automatically deducted from stipend checks. Budgeting is a difficult but important task. In some cases, international students must pay taxes as well. (see page 93)

☐ Enroll your spouse/family in the health plan
   Students may enroll their spouse or civil union partner and legally dependent children in one of two dependent plans: the Two-Person Plan or the Student Family Plan. To find out more, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu/coverage/student-coverage
Register for MyChart
MyChart is an online resource to help you stay connected to Yale Health. You can get in touch with your clinician, schedule appointments, and see test results. (see page 52)

Register your car in Connecticut
If you brought a car with you, you should know that Connecticut requires you to register within 60 days and transfer your license within 30 days. Additionally, parking in certain areas requires a permit. (see page 83)

Familiarize yourself with the Yale Shuttle
The Yale Shuttle services are a free method of transport available to all Yale students and affiliates. (see pages 69 - 73)

Text YALESAFE to 444-999
To receive a contact card for your phone containing important university numbers.

Download the apps in the Technology Section
From shuttle information to VPN access, there’s an app for that. (See page 12)
Technology is a huge part of life at Yale. From free software to free IT support, you are never on your own here. The following information should get you started on your way to technological comfort on and off campus.

Yale IT
Whenever you are in doubt, the first line of support is the IT at Yale website. There you can find information on reporting a problem and a 24 hour service line (203) 432-9000. For more information, visit: https://yale.service-now.com/it

Walk-In Centers
For problems with hardware and software that you just cannot seem to solve on your own or over the phone, Yale provides three walk-in centers for students that are free of all service charges. In the event of a hardware replacement, you will only be asked to pay for parts and shipping. For a map of locations, visit: https://its.yale.edu/walk-centers

On-Campus access
Access to all Yale services while on campus is available through the Yale Secure wifi network. Use your NetID and Password to connect your phone and computer.

Off-Campus access
For access to Yale services from off campus, it is necessary to login to the VPN provided through the Cisco-Anyconnect Client which can be downloaded by visiting: access.yale.edu. For more information on how to setup and use the VPN, see the VPN section on page 13.
Apps

VPN Cisco Anyconnect (computer and phone)
Securely access restricted services and resources on the Yale University or Yale-New Haven Hospital (Y-NHH) networks while off campus.

Duo Mobile (phone)
Two Factor Authentication: Required to access internal Yale sites when off campus

LiveSafe (phone)
Summon help with one click, live chat with safety officials, and temporarily provide your location to friends and family until you safely reach your destination.

DoubleMap (phone)
Shows live route updates, GPS locations, and arrival estimates for Yale Shuttles

TapRide (phone)
Summon Yale Safe Rides between 6 pm and 6 am, which deliver you door to door within the shuttle zone (see inside cover).

Orgsync (phone)
Stay connected to organizations on campus wherever you are with the Orgsync announcement app.

Snackpass (phone)
Discounts and promotional codes for local restaurants make dining in New Haven more affordable and fun.

See.Click.Fix (phone)
New Haven community engagement app which enables easy reporting of civic issues, from potholes to blight to downed trees.
VPN

Yale VPN (Virtual Private Network) is a way to securely access Yale’s restricted services and resources on the University or Yale-New Haven Hospital (Y-NHH) network from a non-Yale internet source. VPN is also required for remote access to on-campus workstations - via Remote Desktop Protocol (RDP). While VPN provides excellent network security, it should only be used from an appropriately secured computing device.

To access the VPN:

1) Connect via the website access.yale.edu with your NetID and password.

OR

1) Download and install the Cisco Anyconnect Client from the Yale Software Library (visit: software.yale.edu, or see page 14)

2) Load the client and enter the address access.yale.edu

3) When prompted, login with your NetID and password.

4) Select your preferred choice of multifactor authentication.

5) Access any Yale secured site or server as if on campus.

Like all communities, Yale has come up with its own shorthand. Before you find yourself lost in a conversation about sharing a Mory’s Cup after The Game, check out this list of popular Yale slang.

Apizza [pronounced a-beetz]
The original, New Haven-style pizza: an extra thin, coal charred crust topped with fresh tomato sauce. Don’t forget to add mozz; cheese is a topping in New Haven! Visit the “Trinity,” Pepe’s, Sally’s, and Modern for the true New Haven Experience.

Mozz [pronounced mūtz]
Mozzarella cheese is not guaranteed on pizza in New Haven, so don’t forget to ask for it.

The Game
The annual Harvard-Yale Football game. The Game takes place every fall on the weekend before Thanksgiving, during the November Recess. Harvard and Yale take turns hosting, and Yalies will travel by the busload to Cambridge to watch (and tailgate) The Game.

Gryphon’s Pub
The Graduate and Professional Student Club at Yale with Gryphon’s Pub, the G&P student bar, in the basement. You can pay a small fee up-front to gain a year’s pass to the Gryphon, or you can elect to pay a cover each time you go. The Pub is CASH ONLY!

Mory’s Cup
A very large drink served in a large, silver trophy cup, available at Mory’s on York Street. Cups are ordered by drink color, and are almost always alcoholic.
GSAS – Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.
The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. If you are reading this, you are most likely a student enrolled in GSAS. Not to be confused with G&P, which is GSAS plus the Professional Schools (see G&P).

GSA – Graduate Student Assembly
The GSA is elected by the graduate student body, and every department in GSAS has at least one representative. The GSA identifies the needs and concerns of graduate students, and then works with the administration to address them. The GSA is also the writer, editor, and publisher of The Compass (the guide you are currently reading)! To learn about how to get involved, go to page 6.

DGS – Director of Graduate Studies
The DGS is a vital part of every department, overseeing graduate student curriculum and serving as a resource for any department-related concerns you may have. Your DGS will approve your course schedules, coordinate your teaching assignments, and help make sure your route from matriculation to graduation is as smooth as possible.

CTF – Conference Travel Fund
Offered by the GSA, the CTF is a resource available for graduate students traveling to a conference for the purpose of presenting original work. Awards vary, with the maximum amount being $750. Don’t forget to apply!

SIS – Student Information Systems
From accessing any e-bills, to registering for classes, to updating your emergency contact information, most anything you need to do can be done through SIS.
OCS – Office of Career Strategy
For those who are curious about non-academic career options available to someone with an advanced degree from Yale, OCS is a terrific resource. OCS offers walk-in sessions, workshops, and meetings by appointment, and is a balanced alternative to your departmental resources that often tend to focus more on the academic job market.

G&P – Graduate and Professional Schools

G&P Senate
The G&P Senate represents students from all of the graduate and professional schools at Yale – 13 in all. The Senate works on broad issues that affect the entire graduate and professional student community at Yale, in particular focusing on ways to bring students across all schools together both to work and to socialize. They also provide funding for student groups and activities that are G&P inclusive.

Yale Safe Rides
This shuttle will pick you up wherever you are and take you wherever you want to go within the confines of the shuttle boundaries. It runs from 6pm to 6am. You can request a shuttle through the TapRide App (see page 12)

PI – Principal Investigator
Students in the sciences almost always have a PI, or a professor in whose lab they work or to whom they report. The PI is generally that person’s primary advisor.

Package Store
Liquor Store
We’ve all come here to learn and study in our chosen fields, but we are also here to engage with the community around us at Yale and in New Haven more broadly. Through student and local organizations, there are ample opportunities to be active in our communities.

Graduate Student Organizations

Please note that new student groups are added every year. If you are interested in starting your own group, visit: gsas.yale.edu/life-yale website to find out more about the process. Information about these groups and more can also be found on the OrgSync app and website.

McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life

The McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life provides programming to foster a vibrant graduate student community. In addition to hosting the annual Winter Ball, the McDougal Center hosts events in public service, family life, sports and recreation, health and wellness, for the international community, arts and culture, and various other social events throughout the year. On the first Friday of each month, it hosts First Friday at Five. Come with your own mug and receive free food and libations! For more on all that the Graduate Student Center has to offer, check out the McDougal website, found at gsas.yale.edu, and keep an eye out for their weekly email. And don’t forget to follow their Facebook and Orgsync pages!

The New Haven Free Public Library

Health

When you are sick, the last thing you want to do is waste your time figuring out exactly how the Yale Health System works. Familiarizing yourself now will save you trouble later!

Yale Student Health – (203) 432-0312
The Yale Student Health department is the best place to start if you are feeling unwell. Same-day appointments are often available, and most specialists on the Yale Health plan require a referral, which is most easily acquired by visiting Student Health.

Yale Acute Care – (203) 432-0123
If you fall ill suddenly and cannot make an appointment through Student Health, call Yale Acute Care. Acute Care is always available for walk-in appointments, though waits can be long. If your illness is urgent, it is safest to call 911.

Mental Health and Counseling – (203) 432-0290
Mental health and counseling appointments are available for all graduate students. Though wait times for an appointment can be long, the Mental Health and Counseling department can transfer you to an on-call counselor and other services for urgent care. In case of emergency call 911 or walk into Urgent Care.

Chaplain’s Office - (203)-432-1128
The Chaplain’s Office is open to students who prefer a faith-based counseling option. Visit: chaplain.yale.edu
Yale Health Member ID Card
Your Yale Health member ID card won’t be sent to you automatically. To get yours, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu/request-yale-health-member-ID-card to
You will need this for all Yale Health appointments as well as emergency care outside of the YNHH system.

MyChart
MyChart is a great way to be in touch with your clinicians, get test results online, and schedule appointments, but you have to sign up first. To register, visit: mychart.ynhhs.org/mychart/accesscheck.asp. You can also download the MyChart app for mobile access.

Pharmacy – (203) 432-0033
The Yale Health Pharmacy is the only pharmacy that will accept the Yale Health Plan. Prescriptions can either be dropped off in-person or called-in and picked up at a later date. You may also either wait for your prescription or come to pick it up at your convenience.
Yale Health Center is located at 55 Lock Street. Yale Health Basic Coverage entitles all students to most services provided by the Yale Health Center, including physical exams, gynecological exams, pap smears, flu shots, and laboratory services.

Yale Health Basic Coverage

- Student Health
- Acute Care
- Nutrition
- Gynecology
- Laboratory
- Inpatient Care
- Mental Health & Counseling
- Athletic Medicine (for varsity athletes)

Yale Health Hospitalization

Specialty Care Coverage

- Infectious Diseases

NB: Unless you waive your coverage, you are automatically enrolled in Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage. This means that almost all specialty care, such as dermatology, neurology, obstetrics, ophthalmology, and hospital services are covered. Prescription medications are covered through the Yale Pharmacy in a three-tiered copay system, with copays ranging from $10-$45 for a 30-day supply. Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage also includes free preventative immunizations provided by the Yale Health Center, as well as various options for free contraceptives via the Yale Health Pharmacy. There is a $200 fee associated with admission to the hospital.

Yale requires all half-time or greater students to have hospitalization and specialty care coverage (all students are automatically covered by Yale Health Basic). If you do not want to subscribe to Yale’s Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage, you may purchase other coverage on your own, or have coverage by being a dependent on someone else's plan. If you use outside coverage, you will not be able to fill prescriptions at the Yale Pharmacy. For students who live or travel within the United States but outside of the Yale service area, the Travel Rider is offered as a supplement to Yale Health Hospitalization/ Specialty Care and provides coverage for non-emergent illness and chronic care only. For more information, visit: yalehealth.yale.edu/

_Eye Care and Dental Coverage_

Eye and Dental care are separate and not a part of Yale Health Coverage. For more information about coverage, visit: gradprofdenteye.yale.edu
It’s often hard to find enough time to take care of yourself on top of all of your work and research. Luckily, Yale’s facilities have you covered, making it easy to fit in that workout. Visit: sportsandrecreation.yale.edu

Health Care
As long as you are enrolled half-time or more at Yale, you may purchase coverage for your spouse or civil union partner through Yale at half-cost. If you have children, your entire family plan cost will be covered.

Parental Relief
Student parents enrolled in a Yale PhD program are entitled to 8-16 weeks of academic relief and paid support for birth or adoption. visit: https://gsas.yale.edu/office-directory to find the appropriate dean to contact.

Yale Student Affiliate ID Card
Legally married spouses and civil union partners of Yale students may get Yale Student Affiliate ID Cards, which grant discounts at the Yale Rep, free admission to the Peabody Museum, library privileges, and access (for a fee) to Yale athletic facilities and fitness classes. To get a Yale Student Affiliate ID Card, you and your spouse or partner must appear together, with the student’s Yale ID, government ID, and a copy of your marriage license or civil union, at the University Registrar. Domestic partners are not entitled to an Affiliate ID card.

Family Programming at the McDougal Center
The McDougal Center for Graduate Student Life offers a variety of programming for those with families. Family Life Fellows organize events each month for families, and publish an email listing kid-friendly activities.
Spousal Classes/Employment
Spouses and civil union partners of Yale students are entitled to audit or sit in on courses in both Yale College and the Graduate School for no fee. Additionally, Yale Human Resources offers a variety of options for Yale spouses and partners. In addition to STARS (Yale University’s Online Hiring and Recruitment System), McDougal Graduate Student Life and Yale HR co-host informational sessions on finding employment for spouses and partners of new graduate students.

Yale Babysitting Service
The Yale Babysitting Service is an online forum where Yale-affiliated parents (students, faculty, post-docs, and staff) can post childcare jobs (regular and sporadic) that Yale students who register for the site can respond to. To sign up, visit: https://babysitting.ys.yale.edu/

Caregivers-on-Call
Yale provides backup childcare for graduate students at a discounted rate of $7/hr for up to 40 hours per year. Your safety and security are no laughing matter at Yale. It is the university’s top priority that every student feels safe and secure during his or her time at Yale, and these are some of the services and offices that help achieve that.

For Emergencies, Call 911

Otherwise, call Yale Police at (203) 432-4400.

Blue Phones

Call boxes are located all across campus. Use the red emergency buttons for direct connection to the University Police for police, fire, or medical emergencies.

You can also press “CALL” followed by “2WALK” (2-9255) to call yourself a safe ride or security escort after 6pm.

The Yale Shuttle System

The aim of the free Yale Shuttle system is to provide a safe and reliable mode of transportation for all Yale Students, Staff and Faculty. The service combines Fixed-Route, Door-to-Door and Fixed-Time Shuttles. For detailed and up to the minute information, visit: to.yale.edu/shuttle

Fixed Route Shuttles

Fixed lines shuttles run early morning to late night every weekday (specific times listed on the following pages). They have a number of fixed stops. At night, on weekends, and during adverse weather conditions the routes and times of operation may change. To get on a shuttle just wait at a stop and signal the driver as the shuttle approaches. To get off, pull the yellow cord a few moments before your stop.

To view shuttle stop locations, the shuttle lines and current position (combination of GPS + travel prediction data) of the shuttles download the DoubleMap app.

QR-Code:
Weekday

The Blue Line (7am-1am) connects the Prospect (uphill) and Whitney (downhill) areas with York and College streets downtown all the way to the Medical School.

The Orange Line (7am to 11pm) runs on a similar path as the Blue Line but runs through East Rock, traveling down Foster and Orange Street instead of Whitney Ave.

The Red Line (5:35am to 7pm) runs on Winchester Ave, Prospect (downhill), and serves the Chapel St., Wooster Square areas. It also travels to and from Union Station and the Medical School.

The Yellow Line (2pm to 6pm) follows a similar route to the Blue line, but runs counter-clockwise around Science Hill, running uphill on Whitney Ave and down Prospect Street.

The Green line (7am to 8:30pm) and Purple line (7am to 11:30pm) will bring you to and from West Campus and the Science Hill and Medical School campuses, respectively.
The Yale Shuttle System

Night-time

After 6pm, you can tell your fixed-line shuttle driver the exact location where you would like to be dropped off. You will be driven to your doorstep, even if it is not on the route. After you arrived, the shuttle will return to the fixed route. For example, after 6pm, you can ask your Blue Line driver to drop you at Mansfield Street and they will go up Mansfield for you before they return to Prospect Street. This is why after 6pm some shuttles seem to take a strange path on the DoubleMap app (see apps page 12).

Weekend

The Weekend Blue Line starts at 8:10 am and follows the weekday Blue line route with three exceptions.
It travels: 1) to Stop&Shop for weekend shopping
           2) down Orange Street (instead of Whitney Ave)
           3) to Union Station

After 6pm, it reverts to the standard route.

The Weekend Purple combines stops of the Green and Purple Lines into one line.

Trader Joe’s Shuttle

The Trader Joe’s Shuttle drives students to the Trader Joe’s in Orange, CT and back beginning in the Science Hill Parking lot at Whitney and Humphrey, pass HHH, College and Wall, and returning to Science Hill.
Fixed-Time Shuttles

The Wall Street Shuttle aka Law School Shuttle (6pm to 12:45am) is (despite the name), open to all students. This bus leaves from the Law School (127 Wall Street) on the hour and at half past the hour. The shuttle will drive you to any location within ‘the zone’, first north of Wall Street, then south. At 15 and 45 minutes past, shuttles will leave to take you to any location within ‘the zone’ south of Wall Street first, then north. Just tell the driver your destination as you enter the shuttle.

The Medical School Shuttle aka 333 Cedar Shuttle (6pm to 1am) is also open to all students. They run on the hour and at half past, from 333 Cedar Street. They will take you to any location in the Wooster Square and Dwight/Howe neighborhoods.
The Yale Shuttle System

Yale Safe Rides

From 6pm to 6am, you may call (203)-432-WALK (9255) to call yourself a safe ride. Alternatively, you can use the TapRide app and login with your NetID. The driver will take you to and from any location within the limits of the shuttle routes (see inside front cover of The Compass).

Once the car arrives it will only wait 3 minutes for you before leaving for its next passenger. If you use the TapRide app, you can see the car as it arrives, much like Uber.

If your destination is not accessible by car or you feel unsafe walking from the house to the street – tell the phone operator and they can also arrange for a security guard to walk you to your car.

If you decide not to travel, please do not forget to cancel your ride. Especially on weekend evenings, door-to-door shuttles get very busy and failing to cancel will increase wait times for everyone.

Biking in New Haven

Biking is a healthy, fun and economical way to travel around New Haven, and Yale is a Gold-level Bicycle Friendly University. Here are some tips for staying safe and traveling by bike!

Bikeshare programs

Bike sharing is an innovative transportation program that allows users to rent a bicycle from any designated location, and then return the bicycle to any designated drop zone within the system’s service area.

The Yale Bikeshare (visit: http://to.yale.edu/bikeshare) and The New Haven Bikeshare (visit: http://bikene-whavenct.com) are the two services in New Haven. At the time of printing, they are operated separately and work in slightly different areas of New Haven.

Pricing varies based on the type of membership. For the Yale Bikeshare program, a single day (24 hours) costs $4.99. More complete membership plans are also available, providing unlimited free one-hour rides with a $3 charge per additional hour.

Visit: yale.noa.one for more information.

At the time of printing, there are six Yale bikeshare locations on central campus. New locations are being added all the time! New Haven bikeshare locations also include East Rock, Wooster Square, and other neighborhoods.
Places to Explore by Bike

Farmington Canal Trail
visit: fchtrail.org/pages/default.asp
The Farmington Canal Trail is part of the larger East Coast Greenway Initiative, and runs from Hillhouse Ave. to Southwick, MA. Try riding a short segment after class, or a longer weekend day trip!

East Rock Park
For a challenging ride with beautiful views of New Haven as a reward, ride to the top of East Rock.

ProTip!
Every year, the International Festival of Arts and Ideas takes place on the New Haven Green and offers bike rides around the greater New Haven area. Past events have included a murder mystery bike tour, trips to a Strawberry picking festival, and historical rides around New Haven!

New Haven Bike Party
These themed & costumed rides are held the 2nd Friday of every month, to celebrate the New Haven biking community. This is a great opportunity to meet other bikers and explore New Haven! Find the New Haven Bike Party on Facebook or visit: newhavenbikeparty.wordpress.com

Bradley Street Bike Co-op
visit: http://bsbc.co
You can work on your bike there if you buy a cheap membership; volunteers get a free membership; they additionally sell bikes, parts, make coffee, and are a great part of the cycling community in New Haven
Bike Safety Tips

Like everywhere, there are good streets to cycle on and busier streets. Plan your route before you cycle! Check out the New Haven Bike Map to plan your route.
Visit: elmcitycyclingwebsite.files.wordpress.com/2012/12/cityofnewhaven5.pdf

Take a one-hour bike safety course through Yale Environmental Health & Safety. The course includes helpful bicycling tips, bicycle maintenance info, and the proper use and sizing of helmets. Participants will receive a coupon for a free helmet upon completion of the course.
Sign up at: bmsweb.med.yale.edu/tms/tms_enrollments.offerings?p_crs_id=2410

For great bike-safety tips, visit the smart streets resource to learn how to co-exist on the road with drivers and pedestrians! (visit: smartstreets.yale.edu)

Know the laws for bicyclists. Here are a few that are good to know:

Biking is not allowed on sidewalks.

Bikes must be equipped with lights and reflectors for riding at night.

Do not ride more than two-across and communicate your directions with hand signals.

Always lock your bike to a non-moving fixture. We recommend U-locks and wheel-locking mechanisms to prevent theft. Visit https://to.yale.edu/bike-rack-map for a map of bike racks within the Yale campus.
There are lots of places across the Northeast that are worth exploring while you’re living in New Haven! If you don’t own a car, here are some ways to make that happen. Visit: yale.edu/travel

By car

Zipcar (visit: zipcar.com/yale)
There is a discount for Yale Students!

Rental Cars
These come in handy if you need to travel somewhere one-way or for longer distances. For sure use the Yale discount (visit: travelmanagement.yale.edu). Make sure to use the correct code for leisure or business travel as appropriate.

By Bus

CT Transit (visit: www.cttransit.com)
CT Transit is a great alternative to a car. Useful locations might include Boston Post Road for shopping.

Peter Pan Bus Lines (visit: peterpanbus.com)
For New England stops

BoltBus (visit: boltbus.com)
Combine with an MTA ticket to get to Philadelphia and Washington DC.

Megabus (us.megabus.com)
New Haven to Boston via Hartford
By Train

MTA Metro-North Railroad (visit: mta.info/schedules)
The Metro North connects New Haven not just to New York City, but also to other great places along the CT shoreline. Try curling in Bridgeport, sailing in Greenwich or the Stamford Escape Room. You can buy a ticket at the machine at Union Station, on your phone using the MTA eTix app, or on the train (with a surcharge). Peak Times are on weekdays for trains arriving in New York between 5am and 10am and leaving New York between 5.30am and 9am or 4pm and 8pm. During these times, tickets will be slightly higher prices.

Amtrak (visit: amtrak.com)
New Haven is in a prime location for using Amtrak, on the line connecting Boston, New York, Newark (Airport), Washington DC and Newport News, VA, as well as a line running from New Haven, through Hartford to Springfield, MA. Book early for discounted rates!

CTRail (visit: hartfordline.com)
New in Spring 2018, the Hartford Line runs additional trains to/from New Haven through Hartford and to/from Springfield, MA on weekdays and weekends. ($8 to Hartford, $12.75 to Springfield). Tickets can be purchased at ticket machines at any of the stops on the Hartford Line, or on-board for an additional surcharge.

A Cheap Way to JFK
Take the Metro North Train to Grand Central Station ($17.75, off-peak). Outside Grand Central, buy tickets from NYC Airport agents who run shuttle buses to JFK ($18) nycairporter.com). Shuttles run every 30-45 minutes and take you directly to your terminal.

A Cheap Way to LGA
Take the Metro North Train to Harlem/125th Street, and then board the M60 bus south-bound direct to all terminals at LGA ($2.75). You’ll need exact change and can buy the ticket on the sidewalk near the M60 stop or at the airport.

Direct travel to Newark
Use the Amtrak Northeast Regional line. The Newark train station is attached to the airport terminal!
Having a Car in New Haven

Graduate students with cars should remember:

Connecticut gives you 60 days to register your car in the state. For more information, visit: dmv.org/ct-connecticut/car-registration.php

If you do not own a US license or an out of state license you may, depending on your residency status and length of your stay, need to convert your license to a CT license or pass the driving test again.

Parking on campus often requires an application and permit, and can be very expensive. For information on where to park and how to apply for a permit (visit: to.yale.edu/drive/student-parking)

ProTip #1
If you own a hybrid or electric car, you can get a free parking permit for all of New Haven!

ProTip #2
Off-street parking is free in many streets in East Rock. Park your car there and take the shuttle to campus, but be sure to check for streetsweeping!

ProTip #3
During inclement weather, New Haven may enforce parking bans on all snow emergency routes. Keep an eye out for the flashing blue lights that indicate a ban is in effect or call: 203-946-SNOW (7669).

Your relationship with your advisor is one of the most important relationships of your graduate education, and potentially of your career. You should start thinking now about what you want your relationship with your advisor to look like and how you can achieve that. Make sure you have a conversation with your advisor to get a feeling for their style and establish expectations such as how often you will meet and how often you will provide updates. Should you find yourself having an issue with your student-advisor relationship, Yale has the following resources available to provide advice and support.

GSAS Advising Guidebook
The graduate school has published recommendations for best practices regarding the student-advisor relationship, which can be found on the GSA website. These guidelines can be a great place to start as you work to develop and maintain a successful relationship with your advisor.

Director of Graduate Studies
Each department has a DGS that can be a great resource for any department-specific or advising concerns you might be having. A list of DGSs by department can be found at gsas.yale.edu/dgs-registrar-directory.

Office of Graduate Student Development and Diversity
visit: gsas.yale.edu/diversity
Both the Associate Dean, Michelle Nearon, and the rest of the Office for Graduate Student Development and Diversity realize the importance of promoting positive student-advisor relationships as a way of supporting and retaining all students in GSAS. Thus, they are a great resource for advice and support related to advising and mentorship.
Activities with a Faculty Mentor

After identifying potential faculty advisors, consider participating in one of the following programs, designed to give grad students opportunities to spend time with and learn from faculty mentors.

Meals for Mentoring

gsas.yale.edu

For a full meal with a faculty mentor, the GSAS will provide meal tickets for use at several campus dining locations.

FEAST

gsas.yale.edu

As a Teaching Fellow, you and your course supervisor can meet over lunch to discuss teaching issues through the FEAST program. Once a month, enjoy a meal at the Bulldog Cafe, the KBT Cafe, Café Med, or Kosher Kitchen at the Slifka Center.
Additional Mentorship Opportunities

Remember that not all of your mentoring in grad school needs to come from your advisor! All students have diverse mentorship needs. Those needs can be met by faculty both within and outside your department, by GSAS administrators, by postdocs, or even by fellow graduate students. Think about what mentorship needs you may have for your studies, your career, and your personal growth, and seek out the right people to support your growth at Yale. The following programs provide graduate students with alternative sources of mentorship.

4-Tiered Mentoring Program
gsas.yale.edu
This program, run by the OGSDD, allows graduate students to receive mentorship from other graduate students, postdocs, or faculty members. Additionally, grad students can become a mentor for undergrads or fellow grad students.

Women in Science at Yale (WISAY) Mentoring Program
wisay.sites.yale.edu
WISAY matches women in science and engineering with women at more advanced stages of their career to receive advising, mentorship, and support. Grad students can choose to mentor an undergrad, receive mentorship from a postdoc, or both.
We get it: you have more than enough on your plate without having to figure out the ins-and-outs of a whole new institution. To ease your transition, we’ve summarized all the “admin” stuff you might need along the way on the next few pages.

Poorvu Center For Teaching and Learning
ctl.yale.edu
The CTL, or the Center for Teaching and Learning, is the result of trying to create a more unified Yale. The new center consolidated the various teaching, tutoring, writing and technology-enabled learning programs distributed across the University. Most relevant for graduate students, the Yale Teaching Center and the Graduate Writing Lab are now housed under the umbrella of the CTL.

Office of Career Strategies
ocs.yale.edu
Should you decide to explore career options outside of academia, the Office of Career Strategies is a great place to start. OCS offers drop-in hours, or you can schedule an appointment with a career counselor on their website.

Teaching Fellow Program
gsas.yale.edu
Most graduate students will have contact with the Teaching Fellow program during their time at Yale. You can now search vacant TF positions and apply for them on the Graduate Student Teaching Opportunities website, a useful tool for those searching for a TF assignment during non-priority years.
Financials and Funding Opportunities

GSA Conference Travel Fellowship
gsa.yale.edu
Attending conferences is an expensive but necessary part of your graduate experience. The Conference Travel Fellowship can help offset that cost and provide funding for travel expenses to important conferences.

Dean’s Fund for Student-Organized Symposia
gsas.yale.edu/academic-professional-development/colloquia-symposia-other-initiatives/symposia
If you are planning a symposium for your field here at Yale, the Dean’s Fund can provide a grant of up to $1000. Applications must be received six months in advance.

Dean’s Fund for Research Workshops, Seminars, and Colloquia
When planning a seminar series or research workshop, consider applying for a grant through the Dean’s Fund. As long as there will be more than four meetings a term, your series may be eligible for up to $500 a semester.

Student Grants and Fellowships
studentgrants.yale.edu
Additional funding opportunities can be found on the Student Grants and Fellowships website. Besides the database of grants, the website also has guidance for writing your applications and links to other grant resources.
Tax Information
tax.yale.edu
Taxes are confusing in grad school, especially as funding sources vary widely between students. Most stipends are considered taxable as that income is used for non-academic purposes such as room and board. For further information, you can go to the Grad and Professional Student Guide on the Yale Tax Office Website or see Topic 421 (Scholarships, Fellowship Grants, and Other Grants) on the IRS website.

Tax Facts
The GSA holds a session with a local accountant to help go through the tax filing process. Details announced in spring.

Direct Deposit
To set up direct deposit, visit the Yale portal (visit: portal.yale.edu). Select “My Pay and Info” and then “Pay.” Here you can select “Payment Elections” to input bank information for direct deposit of your stipend.

International Student Tax information
The Office of International Students and Scholars website is the best resource for international students on tax information. With their online guides, filing your taxes will become more straightforward.

Dean’s Emergency Fund
(https://gsas.yale.edu/funding-aid/deans-emergency-fund). The Dean’s Emergency fund is for GSAS students who face a one-time, unexpected financial hardship. Up to $2000 can be requested from the fund, and it does not need to be repaid.
Yale has resources available to anyone affected by any form of harassment or discrimination, as well as their friends, families, and loved ones. It does not matter what form of misconduct occurred, nor when it happened—you have choices about what to do and how.

SHARE - 203-432-2000

55 Lock St. - Ground Floor

(Sexual Harassment and Assault Response and Education Center)

SHARE is a 24/7 resource available to the community. You can call anytime, or drop into the office on weekdays during business hours. SHARE counselors are trained professionals who assist students who are dealing with acute and recent experiences, as well as experiences from the past.

University-Wide Committee - 203-432-4449

The University-Wide Committee on Sexual Misconduct is the internal disciplinary board designed to address allegations of sexual misconduct. It is available to students, faculty and staff across the university. The committee consists of approximately forty students, faculty, and administrative members drawn from throughout the University.
Reporting Harassment, Discrimination, and Misconduct

Yale is committed to creating an inclusive environment in which all students can feel respected, safe, and able to learn. To this end, there are a variety of resources available to provide support and guidance if you feel that you or others have experienced harassment or discrimination.

Dean’s Designees
The Deans Designees are selected by the Dean of each school and are equipped to receive student concerns or complaints about issues of discrimination, harassment, diversity and inclusion, and equal opportunities. Dean’s designees can offer support as well as advice about additional resources and reporting options that are available.

Dean’s Designees for the Graduate School:

Michelle Nearon - (203)-436-1301
michelle.nearon@yale.edu

Denzil Streete - (203) 436-4171
denzil.streete@yale.edu

Title IX Coordinators
You can contact the University Title IX Coordinator, Stephanie Spangler at 203-432-4446 (during working hours) or email: titleix@yale.edu
Title IX coordinators are employees to whom students, faculty, and staff may go when they have questions or would like to make a report concerning issues of sexual misconduct and gender-based discrimination.
Office for Equal Opportunity Programs
The Office for Equal Opportunity Programs ensures Yale’s compliance with policies and laws that relate to equal opportunities for students, faculty, and staff on campus. Any student with concerns related to affirmative action, equal opportunity, sexual harassment, racial harassment, or fairness in admissions or employment at Yale is encouraged to contact the Office for Equal Opportunity Programs. For more information, visit: equalopportunity.yale.edu

LiveSafe App
Through the LiveSafe app, anonymous messages can be sent to the SHARE center or the Yale police. Additionally, confidential (but not anonymous) messages may be sent to the Office for Equal Opportunity Programs. (See page 12)
